Prevent Child Abuse (PCA) Georgia's Referral Guide for Abuse Treatment Services provides a listing of mental health professionals who have demonstrated a minimum level of experience and training in working with survivors or perpetrators of child abuse. The practitioners listed in the Referral Guide submit an application to PCA Georgia and are reviewed for eligibility by a panel that includes professional peers who are not employees or agents of PCA Georgia.

This Standards' Review Committee consists of PCA Georgia staff and several mental health practitioners who represent a range of mental health disciplines. These clinicians are leaders in the mental health community as providers of child abuse survivor or perpetrator treatment. The Standards' Review Committee meets on a quarterly basis to review applications. Furthermore, the review panel serves as advisors to the Referral Guide's development, management, and application.

Following are the minimum requirements for clinicians listed in PCA Georgia's Referral Guide for Abuse Treatment Services:

- A Masters, Doctoral or Nursing degree in a mental health field
- Professional licensure valid and current in the state of Georgia
- Current professional liability insurance
- Twelve hours of continuing education, acquired within five years preceding application for listing, relevant to child abuse, abusers, and/or related issues
- Clinical experience working with survivors and/or perpetrators as indicated by three letters of reference from clinical supervisors and/or professional colleagues licensed in a mental health profession

PCA Georgia does not make any representations or warranties of any kind, implied or otherwise, with respect to the individuals listed in the Referral Guide. It is provided merely as a source of information, and individuals who contact these mental health professionals must make their own decisions with respect to that professional's qualifications and experience. There are minimum guidelines that a mental health professional must meet to be on the Referral Guide list, but these guidelines are not intended to imply that an individual practitioner is otherwise qualified. These minimum requirements are those that PCA Georgia, with guidance from the Standards Review Committee, believes a mental health professional in the field should possess to provide specialized treatment. PCA Georgia does not and will not recommend any professional and this Referral Guide is being provided only as a community service to assist others in obtaining assistance for very sensitive and emotional issues. The users of this Referral Guide agrees to hold harmless PCA Georgia from any and all claims that may arise as a result of choosing a health practitioner and will look solely toward that practitioner should they have any claims of any kind whatsoever.
